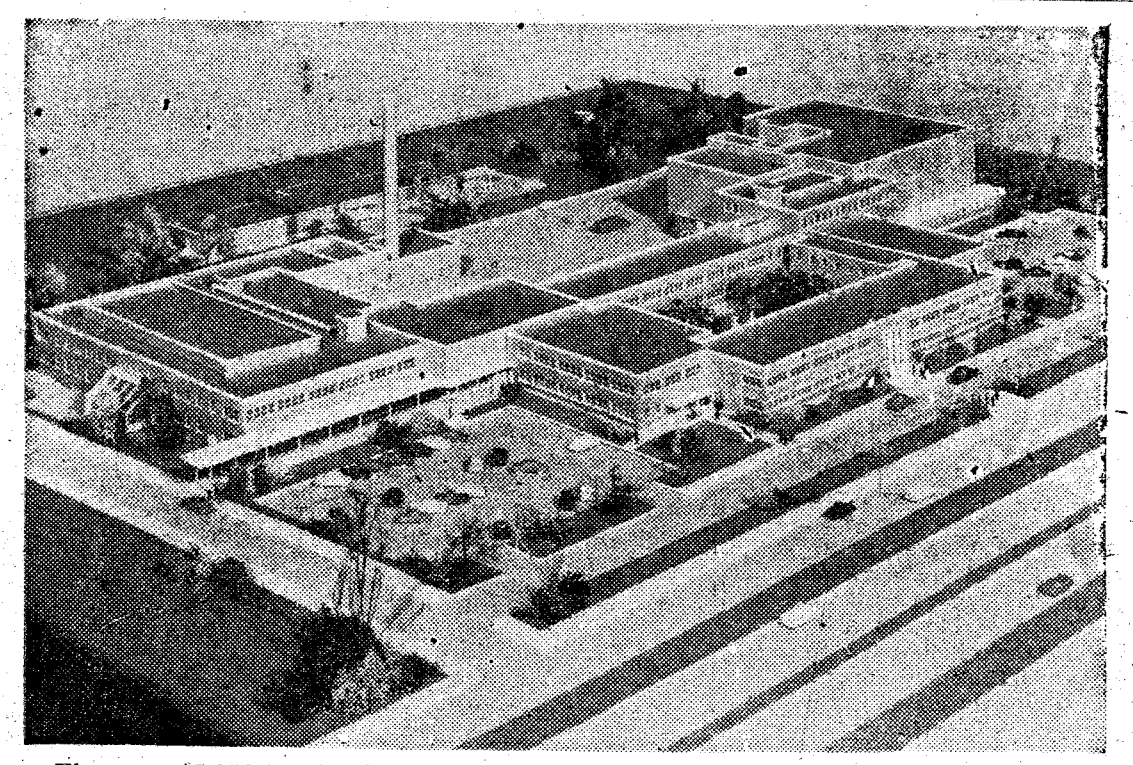
Vol. 9 No. 41 EDMONTON, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 10, 1956 Section One—8 Pages



The new $5,250,000 National Film Board Building was officially opened in Montreal when Immigration and Citizenship Minister J. W. Pickersgill turned the golden key to open the doors. Some 500 staff members and millions of dollars worth of equipment were transferred from nine separate buildings in Ottawa to the new location. The purpose of the NFB is to design and produce films to interpret Canada to Canadians and other nations. How well this job is being done is shown by the fact that over 175,000,000 people saw its productions last year.

MINK RANCHERS MENACED BY RISING WATERS OF LAC LA BICHE

LAC LA BICHE — According to reliable sources, the waters of Lac la Biche have dropped slightly the past few days, after reaching an all-time high in the past 25 years or so, that a record has been kept. But the continued high water throughout the summer has wrought havoc with roads in the Big Bay area.

Ray Shelton, who lives a few miles from town, has had to abandon his road, leave his car nearly a mile from his ranch and use a jeep on a trail through his neighbor's property.

To Move To Coast

Another mink rancher in the district, Norman Young, has had to change his drive way twice this summer to escape the ever-rising lake. Mr. Young, who raises 750 mink, has had to move 200 of his pens from the advancing waters.

He has been a mink rancher in this area for eight years but is completing arrangements to move to Aldergrove, B.C., the first of next year. One reason for the contemplated move is the shortage of mink feed in this district.

While a certain amount of fish is obtained from the local lakes, it is not sufficient, and Mr. Young believes it will be less expensive to move his mink nearer to the source of food, in the form of the poorer grades of fish which is found in plentful supply at the west coast.

Mr. Young reports that several mink ranchers in northern Alberta are making plans to follow his example.

Lac la Biche

Mr. and Mrs. Pete McLea and children of Alix were guests this week at the home of Mrs. McLea's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wolstenholme.

Dr. Brinsmead of Edmonton was a business visitor in town the first of the week.

Among those from Lac la Biche who journeyed to Edmonton on Monday to attend the football game between the Edmonton Eskimos and the Saskatchewan Roughriders, were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Hamar, Marshal Hamar, Stan Kelly and Ted Mackriss.

Rev. Lloyd Hanson, Alberta director of the Canadian Sunday School Mission and Mrs. Hanson of Three Hills, showed colored slides of the work of the Mission in the Gospel Tabernacle, Sunday evening. A large crowd was in attendance. Mrs. Hanson also visited the church in Hylo Sunday afternoon.

Paul Laske of the O.K. garage, returned from Newbrook late Tuesday evening with a 1957 Ford, which is now on display in their show rooms.

Mobile Oil workers, who have made their headquarters in Lac la Biche for the past several months, moved their trailers and equipment to Barrhead over the week-end.

Crowds Jam Church For Anglican Mission

The Anglican Mission to Athabasca town finished Sunday with a service of witness which filled the church to capacity. It was necessary to seat some of the congregation in the choir, others were seated on the chancel and communion rail steps in the vestries and in extra chairs placed in the aisles. Some said it was the largest congregation in recent years.

In addressing the young people, the Mission, the Rev. Harold Macdonald of St. David's Church, Edmonton, stressed the fact that God was our Maker, Saviour and that we must let him dwell in our lives. Over two dozen young people made the 100 mile journey north from Edmonton to tell of the work of Anglican Young People in that city. A social hour was enjoyed by all in the parish hall after the service. Cars brought church people from almost every point in the Athabasca Deanery. Points represented included Rich Lake, Lac la Biche, Grassland, Boyle, Colinton and Smith.

The service was the culmination of a three-day mission which featured daily preaching services, a children's mission, an address to teachers, an intensive visitation, a daily eucharist, etc. On Monday the missioners journeyed north to Smith and Heado for a two-day mission. They will be in Lac la Biche from Thursday October 11 until Saturday, Oct 13.

No Change In Store Hours

Edmonton Mayor William Hawrelak cast the tie-breaking vote to put city council on record as favoring no change in retail store hours.

At present the by-law allows operation 5½ days a week with a Wednesday afternoon closing and one night opening.

Alderman Harris served notice that he will move that council permit a six-month trial of all-day Wednesday shopping.

FUA President To Address Farmers' Convention In Montana

A. W. Platt, president of the Farmers' Union of Alberta, left Wednesday for Great Falls, Mont. At Great Falls, Mr. Platt will address the annual convention of the Farmers' Union of Montana.

Other speakers on the program will be Leon Keyserling, former chairman of the United States Presidents Council of Economic Advisors; M. W. Thatcher, general manager of the Farmers' Union Grain Terminal Association, St. Paul; and Glenn Long general manager of the Farm Union Livestock Marketing Association, St. Paul.

In his address, Mr. Platt will review the significant advances that farm organizations have made in Canada during the past year. He will emphasize that in addition to material advances a new spirit of unity and determination is welling up from the grassroots that augurs well for the future. It seems particularly significant that younger men are stepping forward and accepting positions of responsibility. These men are well qualified by background and experience to make a real contribution and are prepared to do just that.

The Canadian wheat situation will be reviewed and the difficulties our grain farmers find themselves in described.

Mr. Platt will draw attention to the possibility of improving our livestock marketing. North America is not normally in a surplus position and insofar as livestock production is concerned our consumers enjoy a remarkably high standard of living. With a situation like this existing, livestock producers should enjoy prices at a parity level.

He will suggest that Farm Unions in both Canada and the United States might well consider formulating, jointly, policies on livestock marketing that would be mutually advantageous to the farmers of both countries because of the inter-dependence of each country on the other in maintaining fair livestock prices.

War Prisoner New Constable

LAC LA BICHE — The town council has accepted the application of Francis J. Beavan for the office of police constable. Mr. Beavan, who is six feet two inches tall and weighs over 200 pounds, received his police training in England, having been in Canada less than two years.

During the last war he served from 1938 to 1945 with the Royal Artillery, three of these years being spent as a prisoner of war in Japan. Trained in the field of first aid St. John Ambulance, Mr. Beavan expects to take up residence here about the middle of this month.

New Corporal Takes Over Duties

Corp. John Clark, RCMP, accompanied by Mrs. Clark and their two children, Gordon age four, and Susan, two years of age, arrived last week to take over the duties of the Lac la Biche detachement from Corp. Bligh who has been transferred to Edmonton.

The Clarks were in Edmonton for a year before coming here. Prior to that, they spent 4½ years in Europe, where Corp. Clark served with the RCMP in Austria and Italy. They were married in Scotland, Mrs. Clark's homeland. Both of the children were born in an army hospital in the American Occupation Zone in Linz, Austria.

Residents welcome the Clarks to the town and trust their stay here may be a happy one.

Residents Hear Bishop deMel

A carload of people from Lac la Biche journeyed to Edmonton recently to attend a missionary rally for the Right Rev. Jacob deMel, Anglican Bishop of Ceylon.

One of the most outstanding speakers at the Pan Anglican Congress in Minneapolis in 1954, Bishop deMel was invited to visit the Church in Canada.

Later at a dinner tendered in his honor at the Macdonald Hotel, Bishop deMel spoke of the church's witness in regard to the sanctity of the home. In many parts of the east, monogamy is not the rule and therefore the witness of the church is of great importance, said His Lordship.

The bishop scored the practice of baptizing half-converted people as one which would not bring about survival as far as the church was concerned. The meeting was chaired by the Rev. Father Wolf, rector of St. Stephen's Church, Edmonton.

GIFTS THAT GIVE PLEASURE

So you have to buy a gift; wedding, shower, birthday? Whatever it is I hope it will mean something and not be an unpleasant necessary chore. It is my feeling this gift-giving business is getting a little out of hand. As a consequence, we find ourselves buying things for people with no particular thought to how much they need it. And all too often windup with something purely decoration. A lot of homes are cluttered up with a hodge-podge of ornaments and bric-brac as a result of gift exchanges.

Take the bride for instance: she's expected to set up an attractive home using a conglomeration of wedding and shower gifts, none of which were bought to go together. Wouldn't it be more sensible to buy a potato masher or a good cooking pan rather than a wall bracket to add to her array of clutter?

Everyone's tastes in home decoration are different and rather than impose yours on someone, I think it's safer to stick to equipment or lingerie.

If you aren't convinced — ask yourself honestly how you feel about the gifts you've received lately: — how many of them have you really wanted? If you took this question along with you every time you went to buy or make a gift for someone else, you'd probably end up with a more pleasure-giving gift.

Here's two ideas for that wedding gift — the new rayon-dacron table cloths and napkins — (colored yet) or an all wood (beach wood) tray. And for a shower gift how about a cookbook — (the good Housekeeping or Betty Crocker are both excellent) or some plastic place mats with napkins you made?

Look before you leap and make the next gift to that special friend extra special too.

Funeral Service for Archdeacon Robert Little

Funeral services for Archdeacon Robert Little were held from All Saints' Church, Athabasca, Tuesday afternoon at 3 p.m. The Archdeacon's death was caused by a motor accident a week previously in Victoria, B.C.

The Archdeacon was one of the most famous priests in the 20th century mission work of the Anglican Church in western Canada. Born in Ireland, the Archdeacon emigrated to Canada as a young man and studied theology at Montreal Diocesan College before being ordained to the priesthood. After his ordination in 1913, he served the South Athabasca region for three years. From 1916-21, he served in the Peace River area, and from 1921-25 he was priest in charge of Christ Church, Grande Prairie. From 1925-28 he was incumbent of St. Luke's, Vancouver.

His greatest fame was probably won in the 21 years from 1929 until 1950 when he was priest in charge of All Saints Church Athabasca and Archdeacon of the Diocese. Responsible for an area of almost 30, square miles the Archdeacon was a tireless worker, much loved by not only his own people, but by those belonging to other communions. He travelled the area by team, car, train, walking and any other means available. In 21 years he baptized over 1,100 persons.

One of the monuments which will stand to his memory are the boys' and girls' hostels located in Athabasca. Of great service today, they were built at a time when their existence meant that many who would not otherwise have the chance, received a good high school education. Their doors were open to students of all faiths and they represented tangible evidence of the church's interest in missions and education.

Even today, his name is still a by-word in many an isolated farm home. In recognition of his great work as pastor and missionary St. John's College in the University of Manitoba conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

In semi-retirement on Vancouver Island since 1950, the Archdeacon was still active in church circles, taking regular services every Sunday. He is survived by his widow in Victoria, a nephew, John Little of Winnipeg and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Harold Wonnacott of Edmonton.

Western Ewes Raise Good Market Lambs

The "cast-off" ewe from the Western Range areas does an excellent job at raising market lambs when brought to Eastern Canada.

These ewes, mainly of Rambouillet breeding, are generally five years of age when considered too old for the range conditions of the West. However when put on the relatively easy conditions of the Eastern farm they respond well and give up three or four good cross-bred lamb crops before being culled. The ewes are heavy milkers and excellent mothers, and when mated to Down rams most of their lambs can be marketed off pasture. Lambs retained for grain feeding finish easily.

At the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, the cross-bred lambs from the Western ewes have outweighed purebred Shropshire lambs at weaning by an average of four pounds, and have gone to market an average of ten days earlier than all the other lambs raised. Carcasses were acceptable, and graded well.

During this past spring the Western ewes at Ottawa had an average lambing percentage of better than 160 on more than 150 ewes, while the Down breeds were slightlly less under the same conditions.

Therefore, on the basis of prolificacy, the ability to grow, and the market quality of the cross-bred lambs, the Western range ewe has a worthwhile place on Eastern Canadian farms.

Better Cancer Service Predicted

CALGARY (BUP) — Albertans may soon receive better cancer services if a report from the committee on cancer at the first annual meeting of the Alberta Division of the Medical Association is approved.

The report was approved by the convention and the recommendation will be submitted to the Council of Physicians and Surgeons of Alberta for discussion with the provincial government.

The report recommended that the cancer diagonostic clinic resume responsibility for any procedure wherever done that leads to the diagnosis of cancer and authorize the treatment of certain premalignant lesions.

Nurses, Doctors Addicted To Drugs

CALGARY (BUP) —A spokesman for the Alberta Division of the Canadian Medical Association pointed out that many doctors and nurses have become addicted to tranquillizing drugs.

The report said the sale of tranquillizing drugs without prescription is really a problem because they are sometimes abused.

Demerol was much less attractive to the psycopathic drug addict than was heroin or morphine. But it appeared it was the most important problem of the division of narcotics control, the report pointed out.

"It seems very attractive to the non-criminal addict and many doctors and nurses have become addicted," the report added.

Drugs To Keep Fish Fresher

OTTAWA — Canadian fishermen have received federal permission to use the wonder-drug, aureomycin to get fresher fish to country's dinner tables.

There has never been anything cuter than your child.

Prospects Brighter For Overseas Sale

The prospects for a large overseas movement of Canadian grain continue bright, there are increasing indications that the traditional buyers of Canadian wheat will have to take better than normal quantities because of the quality of their own crop. We have advices today from the United Kingdom that, this year, instead of using 20 per cent of home grown wheat as was the case last year, it looks as if only 15 per cent can be used.

The same situation prevails in West Germany and in Belgium. Wheat from other countries of the required quality is not in as good supply as a year ago. Australian sales are pretty well shut off by the shipping situation. The Argentine are offering no wheat and American offerings have become higher priced. Canadian barley is already moving in good volume with overseas clearings to date 9 million bushels as against a little more than 2 million bushels a year ago. Broomballs corn trade news, which is usually not inclined to over emphasize importers requirements, suggests that the United Kingdom may have to double their purchases from Canada this year. There has been some small business in Canadian oats with the prospect of further oats. Canadian rye is currently unable to meet the competition of American offerings. It looks as if there could be an active demand for the large Canadian flax crop and already exporters appear to be in difficulties on their nearby commitments because of the delayed harvest.

Don't press a soiled garment. Heat plus steam literally makes mud pies in fabrics and can permanently "set" stains, making cleaning difficult if not impossible.

There is always time for one more good joke.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

October 7-13

"DON'T GIVE FIRE A PLACE TO START"

By proclamation, Governor General Vincent Massey has designated October 7-13 as Fire Prevention Week. It is, as His Excellency points out, an imperative reminder of the increasing need for the control of fire and its hazards.

In the last ten years, the proclamation states, fires in Canada have taken a toll of 4,856 lives and have seriously injured 16,000 persons. The financial loss of 623,223 fires in the decade has been $800,000,000.

No less shocking is the picture of Canada's fire loss position in relation to other civilized nations. The latest available comparative international record of per capita fire losses, according to the office of the Dominion Fire Commissioner:

1. Canada	$5.86	8. West Germany	.84
2. U. S. A.	4.56	9. Ireland	.83
3. Norway	2.44	10. Austria	.70
4. Denmark	2.34	11. Netherlands	.69
5. Switzerland	1.70	12. Puerto Rico	.48
6. U. K.	1.10	13. Italy	.32
7. France	1.06

This was the unenviable record published in 1952 by a UN committee. Unfortunately, as the Joint Fire Prevention Committee of the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals and the Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs points out, Canada's record is worsening.

Figures for 1954 show our per capita loss to be $6.01.

Alarmed by the situation, the two great associations of the nation's firefighters (representing the provincial and municipal fire services) last year joined hands to establish the joint committee. Its members serve voluntarily and its simple purpose is to render public service by assisting in bringing to the attention of citizens the story of fire prevention and control, particularly during Fire Prevention Week.

Because most fires—and most deaths—are the result of human carelessness, public education is deemed the most effective way of combatting the menace, especially in the home, where most deaths tragically involve women and children—lives that might have been spared had the simplest rules of safety been followed.

Bringing the story directly to the public is the great army of Canada's 25,000 firefighters—professional and volunteer—the men who, night and day, must stand ready to face the tragedy of fire.

The banner they bear reads: DON'T GIVE FIRE A PLACE TO START.

And, giving utterance to the helpless children and women and all who innocently suffer: DON'T LEAVE US ALONE WITH THE HAZARDS OF FIRE.

In the main, the hazards are carelessness and thoughtlessness. Who, for instance, striking a match, stops to think that it may destroy a whole community? Or who, inserting a 30-ampere fuse into an over-worked electrical circuit, considers that a family may be wiped out? . . . Of such can be the terrible price of somebody's carelessness.

That the battle of public education can, surely if slowly, prevail, is the belief of the firefighters and the many organizations and services which contribute unstintingly to the cause—this newspaper among them.

Traditionally Fire Prevention Week is the full calendar week including October 9, anniversary of the Great Chicago Fire of 1871. It is observed at the same time in Canada and the United States by proclamation of the Governor General of Canada and by the President of the United States. This year, further in commemoration of its observance, the Canadian Post Office Department will, during the week (October 9), issue its first special Fire Prevention Stamp.

The 5-cent stamp is in two colours, black and red. It was first suggested by the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals—representing the fire authority of each of the ten provinces—with the support of the Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs, and other fire service organizations.

As the Postmaster General, Hon. Hugues Lapointe, said in announcing the issue, it will "emphasize the importance of reducing the needless waste caused by preventable fires".

DISTRICT AGRICULTURIST NOTES

By J. S. LORE

There is no necessity for paying high prices for certain fresh vegetables during the winter when it is possible to store produce from the home garden. Certain vegetables such as peas, beans, broccoli, cauliflowers and spinach cannot be stored in the fresh state but are quite suitable for canning or freezing. However, the root, bulb and tuber crops, in particular, are generally stored in the fresh condition for use during winter, states D. H. Debbs, horticulturist, Canada Department of Agriculture, Experimental Station, Scott, Sask.

In order to store most fresh vegetables successfully it is necessary to have a location where cool temperature and high-humidity can be maintained. For most home owners, the cellar or basement is the only suitable location. If the house is heated by stoves it is a relatively simple matter to keep the cellar sufficiently cool. However, if the dwelling is heated by a central furnace in the basement the problem arises of maintaining sufficiently cool temperatures for good storage. To achieve this a corner with an outside window should be partitioned off with any good insulating material, including a well-fitted and insulated door. The ceiling should also be insulated, or the floor above the storage room will be cold. The window should be fitted with both a cold air duct leading nearly to the floor and a warm air duct near the ceiling in order to provide good ventilation. Both of these ducts should be equipped with sliding vents so that the room temperature can be regulated. During mild weather both ducts can be left open overnight and closed during the day. During very cold weather the ducts should be closed, and, if necessary, the door partly opened to allow some warm air from the basement to enter.

Vegetables to be stored should be well grown, of good quality and carefully handled. Slated floors and shelves should be used to ensure adequate ventilation. A layer of peat moss on the floor, kept moistened, will materially aid in keeping humidity at a high level. Cabbage and most root crops keep best at a temperature as little above 32 degrees F. as possible. Potatoes should be stored at, or near 38 degrees F.; below this temperature they tend to become sweet and at 40 degrees F. they begin to sprout. Pumpkins and squash prefer a drier atmosphere and a temperature of 50-65 degrees F., while onions prefer a relatively dry atmosphere and a temperature of 33-40 degrees F. By taking the temperature at different sections of the storage room the most optimum storage conditions for the different vegetables can be determined. An absence of light is important for best storage of vegetables. Where the house is wired for electricity a separate switch should be arranged for the storage room.

Mission to Colinton Draws Record Numbers

St. Andrew's Church, Colinton was the scene of the opening of the Anglican Mission to Deanery of Athabasca. Last Monday morning, Oct. 1, all of the clergy of the deanery plus the missioner, the Rev. Harold Macdonald of St David's Church in Edmonton, moved in on the Colinton area

The day commenced with a celebration of Holy Communion after which time the various clergy conducted an intensive visitation of the area. On Monday afternoon, the W.A. of St. Andrew's Church entertained the missioners at a tea in the parish hall.

Attendance the first night was average with the second night seeing the church well filled. On Wednesday, the third and final night, it was necesary to bring chairs into the church in order that all might be accommodated. This was followed by a social in the parish hall.

The missioner took as his themes on the three evenings God the Father and creator, God the Son our Saviour, and God the Holy Ghost our sanctifier.

On Thursday, the mision moved on to Athabasca where services were held in All Saints' Church. Clergy of the deanery taking part in the Mission included Rev. Jack Gibbons, rector of All Saints' Parish in Athabasca, the Rev. Glen Ash of Colinton, the Rev. Bernard Hart of Boyle, Capt. Clarence Babcock of the Church Army from Smith, and the Rev. R. S. H. Greene, rector of Lac la Biche, and rural dean.

TB Survey Notes

By AUDREY B. COAST

LAC LA BICHE — As reported in last week's paper, a chest X-ray clinic for tuberculosis is coming to Lac la Biche in the near future. The dates for this clinic have not been set as yet, but the time and place will appear on all posters in the area, and in this newspaper as soon as they are available.

Anyone who is not contacted by survey please come in anyhow, because the workers at the clinic can easily accommodate extras. It is important that everyone in the community be X-rayed because this corner of the province has been found to have the highest TB rate in Alberta.

Anyone can catch TB. However, the most susceptible are the teen-agers and the over 45 years group. Of 4,771 deaths from TB in 1948 over half were past 30 years of age.

Early TB gives no warning. There are no signs or symptoms that tell you when you first contact the disease. The only way you can be sure is by getting your chest X-rayed. The more advanced stages of TB cause a feeling of listlessness, tiredness not relieved by rest, loss of weight, loss of appetite, a continuing cough, hoarseness and spitting blood. Don't wait this long. Early discovery means early recovery. Watch the paper and poster for dates.

YOU are asked to observe
FIRE PREVENTION WEEK
October 7-13 — and every day thereafter

The carelessness and indifference of people is the cause of fires in the home, place of work and in our forests. The many deaths resulting from fires can be attributed to this neglect. "DON'T GIVE FIRES A PLACE TO START" is good advice and a habit to acquire. Your Fire Department is conscientious in their endeavor to hold depredatory fires in abeyance through inspection service, but they can't do it alone. THEY NEED YOUR HELP to prevent fires!

- A careless smoker is a menace.
- Faulty electric wiring and overloaded circuits are dangerous.
- Fires are caused by defective chimneys, furnaces, pipes and cooking equipment.
- Spontaneous ignition can be caused by oily rags, paint and rubbish.
- The careless use of kerosene and other inflammable liquids can result in death.
- Leaving children within reach of matches and electric and gas switches can have serious consequences.
- Put your campfire out and don't light brush without proper care.

Use your common sense, KNOW AND ACT ON THESE THINGS.

Fire is not a chance occurrence but a bad error!
